

Mosaic Drift Pendant Light

AESTHOME

SPECIFICATION SHEET

DESCRIPTION

The Mosaic Drift Pendant Light is handcrafted from individually cut panels of textured glass, arranged in a gently tapered silhouette. Each panel features delicate ripples and natural variations that soften the light, casting warm reflections and adding depth to the surrounding space.

Traditional soldering techniques give the shade its distinctive mosaic structure. Visible joins and subtle irregularities are natural characteristics of the handmade process, ensuring that no two pieces are exactly alike.

Compact yet full of character, Mosaic Drift works beautifully above kitchen islands, dining tables, bedside areas, and café or bar counters. Whether illuminated or switched off, it brings an inviting decorative presence without overwhelming the room.

Available in three colour finishes, each creates a distinct atmosphere while preserving the same timeless handcrafted form.
